37 CFR Part 1

Changes in Procedures for Revival of Patent Applications and Reinstatement of Patents

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice in patent cases to: modify the petition requirements for reviving abandoned applications; extend the provisions for revival under the unintentional standard to applications abandoned under §1.53(d); modify the requirements for a petition to accept late payment of a maintenance fee filed more than six months after expiration of a patent; modify the requirements for a petition to accept unavoidably delayed payment of a maintenance fee; and provide for reinstatement of a patent where the delay in timely payment of a maintenance fee was unintentional. The Office is also establishing the amount for the surcharge for accepting a maintenance fee after expiration of a patent for non-timely payment of a maintenance fee where the delay in payment is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unintentional.
Effective Date: Sept. 20, 1993. These rules will be applicable to all papers filed with the Office on or after the effective date.
For Further Information Contact: Jeffrey V. Nase by telephone at (703) 305-9282 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: In a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published in the Federal Register (57 FR 41899) on Sept. 14, 1992, and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette (1143 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 8) on October 6, 1992, the Office proposed to amend §§1.17, 1.137, 1.155, 1.316, 1.317 and 1.378. In an Interim Rule published in the Federal Register (57 FR 56448 on November 30, 1992, and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette (1145 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 339) on December 8, 1992, the Office, pursuant to Public Law 102-444 enacted October 23, 1992, established interim rules for reinstatement of a patent where the delay in timely payment of a maintenance fee was unintentional. The Office also established the amount for the surcharge for accepting a maintenance fee after expiration of a patent for non-timely payment of a maintenance fee where the delay in payment was shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unintentional. No oral hearing was held.

DISCUSSION OF SPECIFIC SECTIONS TO BE CHANGED OR ADDED:

(1) Post issuance fees.(§1.20)

Section 1.20(i) is amended to add a $1,500 surcharge fee for accepting the unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee.

(2) Unavoidable or unintentional abandonment of an application

Sections 1.137, 1.155, 1.316 and 1 317 each provide for petitions to the Commissioner for relief from failure to timely comply with a requirement of the Office. Section 1.137 provides for petitions to revive patent applications abandoned for failure to prosecute where the delay in prosecution was unavoidable (§1.137(a)) or the delay was unintentional (§1.137(b)). Section 1.155 provides for petitions for acceptance of late payment of issue fees in applications for design patents as though no abandonment had ever occurred where the delay in payment was unavoidable (§1.155(b)) or unintentional (§1.155(c)). Section 1.316 provides for petitions for acceptance of late payment of issue fees in applications for patent as though no abandonment had ever occurred where the delay in payment was unavoidable (§1.316(b)) or unintentional (§1.316(c)). Section 1.317 provides for acceptance of late payment of the balance of issue fees in patents as though no lapse had ever occurred where the delay in payment was unavoidable (§1.317(b)) or unintentional (§1.317(c)).

In order to obtain relief under the unavoidable standard in the above-noted sections, the regulations continue to require the filing of a terminal disclaimer if the petition is filed more than six months after the date of abandonment. See §§1.137(c), 1.155(d), 1.316(d) and 1.317(d). The terminal disclaimer must disclaim a period equivalent to the period of abandonment. The period of abandonment is considered to be the number of months lapsed from the date of abandonment until the date of filing of a grantable petition.

Sections 1.137(c), 1.155(d) and 1.316(d) are amended to reflect the current practice that a terminal disclaimer filed for the purpose of reviving an application also applies to a patent granted on any continuing application entitled to the benefit of the filing date of the subject application under 35 U.S.C. 120.

Applicants may petition under the provisions of §1.183 for a waiver of the requirement that a period equivalent to the period of abandonment be disclaimed if it can be shown that an extraordinary situation exists in which justice requires waiver of this requirement.

If petitions under the above-noted sections were not grantable because of insufficient evidence or petitioner's failure to comply with certain requirements, the Office dismissed the petitions. The dismissal indicated any missing items and warned petitioners that any renewed petition seeking reconsideration must be filed promptly. While the promptness requirement was not precisely defined, §1.181(f) requires the filing of petitions within two months from an action complained of in order to avoid possible dismissal of the petition on the grounds that it was not timely filed. The above-noted sections are being amended to specify a two-month period or such time as may be set in the dismissal as being the appropriate deadline for requesting reconsideration. In those situations where petitioners require more time to gather additional evidence or items needed for reconsideration, an extension of time of up to four months may be obtained under the provisions of §1.136(a). The filing of a renewed petition within the period specified in the decision or within the extended period permitted under §1.136 will satisfy the promptness requirement of petitions under the unavoidable standard.

Upon failure to timely file a renewed petition under the unavoidable standard, the Office will require a showing of unavoidable delay for the entire period of abandonment. To be entitled to relief under the unavoidable standard, petitioner must be able to show unavoidable delay from a time prior to abandonment to the filing of a grantable petition. In re Application of Takeo, 17 USPQ2d 1155 (Comm'r Pat. 1990). Upon failure to timely file a renewed petition under the unintentional standard (see §§1.137(d), 1.155(e), 1.316(e) and 1.317(e)), petitioner may be subject to a loss of the right to proceed under the unintentional standard if more than one year lapsed between the date of abandonment and the date the renewed petition is filed.

The unintentional provisions specified in §1.137(b) will apply to applications abandoned under §1.53(d). Effective Nov. 5, 1990, the Commissioner waived, under §1.183, the exception specified in §1.137(b) as to applicability of petitions under the unintentional standards to applications abandoned under §1.53(d). See "Petitions to Revive Patent Applications Waiver of Provisions of 37 CFR §1.137(b)", 1121 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 6 (Dec. 4, 1990). Section 1.137(b) is amended to incorporate this new practice into the regulations.

The Office is amending §1.137(b) to clearly require applicant to state that the delay was unintentional, rather than the abandonment was unintentional. The Office has withdrawn its proposal that would have amended the rules of practice to require a terminal disclaimer if a grantable petition to reinstate an abandoned application was not filed within six months from the date of abandonment. The terminal disclaimer proposal was withdrawn because of the burden that such a requirement would impose on applicants and the Office and because it is unnecessary to achieve its intended purpose. The Office had suggested the terminal disclaimer proposal to ensure that any petition to revive was promptly filed. However, the proposed terminal disclaimer requirement is unnecessary to ensure prompt filing of the petition to revive since the first sentence of §1.137(b) states that an application may be revived if the delay was unintentional. Accordingly, the specific requirements for the unintentional petition to revive have been amended to correspond to the existing rule provision that revival is available if the delay was unintentional, not just that the abandonment was unintentional. A person seeking revival should not make a statement that the delay was unintentional unless the entire delay, including the delay from the date it was discovered that the application was abandoned up until the petition to revive was actually filed, was unintentional. For example, a statement that the delay was unintentional would not be proper when applicant becomes aware of an abandonment and then intentionally delays filing a petition to revive the application under §1.137.

The Office adopted a policy wherein, under certain strictly limited conditions, the one-year period for requesting revival of an unintentionally abandoned application could be waived. Accordingly, the prohibition against requests for waiver found in §§1.137(b), 1.155(c), 1.316(c) and 1.317(c) has been deleted. See "Petitions Under 37 CFR 1.183 to Waive the One Year Time Period Requirement in 37 CFR 1.137(b), 1.155(c) and 1.316(c)" at 1059 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 4 (Oct. 1, 1985). However, applicants are cautioned that waiver of the one-year deadline under the unintentional standard will continue to be subject to strictly limited conditions.

(3) Issue and term of design patents (§1.155)

Section 1.155 is amended to be consistent with the changes to §1.137. Paragraph (b) of §1.155 is further modified to correct a typographical error. In the reference to the fee in §1.17(1), the letter (l) should have appeared instead of the numeral (1).

(4) Application abandoned for failure to pay issue fee (§1.316)

Section 1.316 is amended to be consistent with the changes to §1.137. Paragraph (b) of §1.316 is further modified to correct a typographical error. In the reference to the fee in §1.17(1), the letter (l) should have appeared instead of the numeral (1).

(5) Lapsed Patents; delayed payment of balance of issue fee (§1.317)

Section 1.317 contains a provision regarding issue fees paid prior to October 1, 1982. Prior to that date, the Office charged an initial base issue fee and, depending on the size of the specification and drawings printed, billed applicants for a balance of issue fee due. Subsequent to Oct. 1, 1982, all applicants were required to pay the same issue fee regardless of the size of the specification and drawings. Reference to the date in §1.317 is being deleted at this point in time since it is no longer relevant to pending applications. However, practice under this section continues to be relevant when a fee change becomes effective before payment is received.

In order to satisfy the requirement of 35 U.S.C. 151, the Office mails out a Notice of Allowance which specifies the sum of the issue fee due. When the issue fee amount is changed, the sum specified on the Notice of Allowance is at times different from that required at the time payment is actually received in the Office. If applicants submit issue fee payments in the amount specified on the Notice of Allowance after the effective date of a fee increase, then a balance of issue fee is due. The Office will accept payment of the amount specified on the Notice of Allowance and process the application into a patent. In accordance with 35 U.S.C. 151 and 37 CFR 1.317, a notice is sent to applicants requesting payment of the balance of the issue fee due (the difference between the fee due at time of receipt of payment in the Office and the fee specified on the Notice of Allowance) and setting a three-month period for payment. See In re Mills, 12 USPQ2d 1847 (Comm'r Pat. 1989). Failure to pay the balance of the issue fee within the specified three-month period will result in lapse of the patent. Therefore, the reference to Oct. 1, 1982, in §1.317 is being replaced by language specifying the consequences of failure to pay the issue fee due at the time payment is made.

Section 1.317 is amended to be consistent with the changes in §1.137. Paragraph (b) of §1.317 is further modified to correct a typographical error. In the reference to the fee in §1.17(l), the letter (l) should have appeared instead of the numeral (1).

(6) Delayed payment of a maintenance fee (§1.378)

Public Law 102-444 amends subsection 41(c)(1) of title 35, United States Code, to permit the Commissioner to accept late payment of any maintenance fee filed within twenty-four months after the six-month grace period, if the delay in payment is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unintentional. In order to implement Public Law 102-444, paragraphs (a) and (c) of §1.378 are amended to permit the filing of a petition to accept late payment of a maintenance fee, where the delay in payment was unintentional.

In addition to the timeliness deadline set forth in the preceding paragraph, a petition filed under the unintentional standard of §1.378(c) would have to include the required maintenance fee set forth in §1.20 (e) through (g), the surcharge for an unintentionally expired patent as set forth in §1.20(i)(2), and a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional.

A person seeking reinstatement of an expired patent should not make a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional unless the entire delay, including the delay from the date it was discovered that the maintenance fee was not paid timely up until the maintenance fee was actually paid, was unintentional. For example, a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional would not be proper when patentee becomes aware of an unintentional failure to timely pay the maintenance fee and then intentionally delays filing a petition for reinstatement of the patent under §1.378.

Petitions to accept delayed payment of a maintenance fee in an expired patent, prior to enactment of Public Law 102-444, required a showing of unavoidable delay. In the case of petitions filed more than six months after expiration of a patent, former §1.378(c) further required a showing that the failure to timely pay the maintenance fee was beyond the control of the patentee. The Office had determined that the "beyond the control" standard did not find adequate support in the relevant statute (35 U.S.C. 41(c)) or in the legislative history of Public Law 97-247. See "Acceptance of Delayed Payment of Maintenance Fees in Expired Patents", 1115 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 18 (June 12, 1990). Therefore, former §1.378(c) has been deleted in its entirety to be replaced by the unintentional delay provisions discussed above. Additionally, §1.378(b) is amended to provide that the unavoidable delay provisions are available at any time following expiration of a patent for failure to pay a maintenance fee.

Furthermore, the practice of accepting late payment of maintenance fees is modified to be more analogous to the practice of reviving abandoned applications and accepting late payment of issue fees. Additionally, the public interest is best served by prompt reinstatement of a patent in which there was an unavoidable or unintentional delay in the timely payment of the maintenance fee.

The requirements for a petition to accept late payment of a maintenance fee, where the delay was unavoidable, are outlined in paragraph (b) of §1.378. In addition to the maintenance fee and surcharge previously required, paragraph (b) is amended to require prompt filing of a petition after the patentee is notified, or otherwise becomes aware, of the expiration of the patent.

Response to Comments on the Rules

Four comments were received.

Comment 1: One comment questioned the time limits in proposed §1.378(c)(5).

Reply: The proposed time limits will not be adopted because Public Law 102-444 sets the time limit for filing a petition to accept the delayed payment of a maintenance fee at twenty-four months after the six-month grace period provided in 35 U.S.C. 41(c).

Comment 2: One comment questioned the proposed terminal disclaimer requirement for petitions to revive an abandoned application under the unintentional standard.

Reply: The proposed terminal disclaimer requirement for petitions to revive an abandoned application under the unintentional standard will not be adopted. First, it has been determined that the proposed terminal disclaimer requirement would have created an unduly complex procedure for both the applicant and the Office. Second, the terminal disclaimer requirement is unnecessary to address a delay in filing a petition for unintentional abandonment since §1.137(b) already indicates that the application may be revived if the delay was unintentional. If a delay in filing a petition was intentional, the petition would be denied. Third, the requirements for a petition have been amended to add the requirement for a statement that the delay in responding was unintentional so as to be consistent with the requirements of the first sentence of §1.137(b). Finally, applicants are cautioned against intentionally delaying the filing of a petition to revive an abandoned application because it may preclude any revival from an abandoned status. Applicants have delayed filing a petition under the unintentional standard until after expiration of the one-year period because of a miscalculation of the one-year period. This miscalculation resulted in the applicant being unable to show that the delay was unavoidable. In re Application of S, 8 USPQ2d 1630 (Comm'r Pat. 1988).

Comment 3: One comment questioned whether Public Law 102-444 and therefore 37 CFR 1.378(c) were applicable to patents that had expired prior to Oct. 23, 1992, for failure to timely pay the required maintenance fee.

Reply: Section 1.378 has been established in accordance with the statutory mandate. Public Law 102-444 and 37 CFR 1.378(c) are effective as to any patent that would be covered by the literal language of the sections. Public Law 102-444 and interim rule 37 CFR 1.378(c) were effective Oct. 23, 1992. Since Public Law 102-444 provides up to a twenty-four month period after the six-month grace period provided in 35 U.S.C. 41(c) to seek reinstatement of an expired patent where the delay was unintentional, any patent that expired on or after Oct. 23, 1990, for failure to timely pay a maintenance fee is eligible for relief under 37 CFR 1.378(c). However, it should be noted that a petition to reinstate an unintentionally expired patent, the required maintenance fee, and the unintentional surcharge (37 CFR 1.20(i)(2)) must be filed within twenty-four months after the six-month grace period to be eligible for relief under the new unintentional provision.

Comment 4: One comment protested that the $1,500 surcharge established in §1.20(i)(2) was too high.

Reply: The $1,500 surcharge established in §1.20(i)(2) is proper. The amount of $1,500 was determined by considering: (1) the $1,170 petition fee for reinstating an unintentionally abandoned patent application, (2) the relationship imposed by statute between the $1,170 petition fee for reinstating an unintentionally abandoned patent application and the $110 petition fee for reinstating an unavoidably abandoned patent application, and (3) the $620 surcharge for reinstating an unavoidably expired patent. Additionally, the Office noted in its original request for comments on the desirability of permitting acceptance of unintentionally delayed payment of maintenance fees (see 1089 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 55, April 26, 1988) that the surcharge to accept an unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee would be substantially higher than the surcharge to accept an unavoidably delayed payment of a maintenance fee. Not only was there no comment adverse to the suggestion of a higher fee, one comment suggested that the surcharge to accept an unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee be set extremely high so that the Office could be assured that the late payment was, in fact, unintentional. The Office, after taking all of the above into consideration, determined that $1,500 was an appropriate amount to charge as the surcharge to accept an unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these changes is to incorporate Public Law 102-444 into the regulations and will give relief to many small entities that do not now have a mechanism to reinstate their expired patent.

The Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers; individuals; industries; Federal, state or local government agencies; or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rule changes contain a collection of information requirements subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., which have previously been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control Nos. 0651-0016 and 0651-0031. The public reporting burden for these collections of information for abandoned applications and delayed maintenance fees is estimated to average 1.0 hour each including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collections of information. Send comments regarding these burden estimates, or any other aspect of these collections of information, including suggestions for reducing the burden, to Jeffrey V. Nase, Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231; and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503 (ATTN: Paperwork Reduction Act Project 0651-0011 and 0651-0016).

6. Section 1.317 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.317 Lapsed patents; delayed payment of the balance of issue fee.

(a) If the issue fee paid is the amount specified in the Notice of Allowance, but a higher amount is required at the time the issue fee is paid, any remaining balance of the issue fee is to be paid within three months from the date of notice thereof and, if not paid, the patent will lapse at the termination of the three-month period.

(b) The Commissioner may accept the payment of the remaining balance of the issue fee later than three months after the mailing of the notice thereof as though no lapse had ever occurred if upon petition the delay in payment is shown to have been unavoidable. The petition to accept the delayed payment must be promptly filed after the applicant is notified of, or otherwise becomes aware of, the lapse, and must be accompanied by:

(1) the remaining balance of the issue fee, unless it has been previously submitted;

(2) the fee for delayed payment (§1.17(l)); and

The Commissioner may require additional information where there is a question whether the delay in payment was unintentional; and

(4) filed either:

(i) within one year of the date on which the patent lapsed; or

(ii) within three months of the date of the first decision on a petition under paragraph (b) of this section which was filed within one year of the date on which the patent lapsed.

(d) Any petition pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section not filed within six months of the date of lapse of the patent, must be accompanied by a terminal disclaimer with fee under §1.321 dedicating to the public a terminal part of the term of the patent equivalent to the period of lapse of the patent.

7. Section 1.378, paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (e) are revised to read as follows:

§1.378 Acceptance of delayed payment of maintenance fee in expired patent to reinstate patent.

(a) The Commissioner may accept the payment of any maintenance fee due on a patent after expiration of the patent if, upon petition, the delay in payment of the maintenance fee is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unavoidable (paragraph (b) of this section) or unintentional (paragraph (c) of this section) and if the surcharge required by §1.20(i) is paid as a condition of accepting payment of the maintenance fee. If the Commissioner accepts payment of the maintenance fee upon petition, the patent shall be considered as not having expired, but will be subject to the conditions set forth in 35 U.S.C. 41(c)(2).

(b) Any petition to accept an unavoidably delayed payment of a maintenance fee filed under paragraph (a) of this section must include:

(1) the required maintenance fee set forth in §1.20(e) through (g)

(2) the surcharge set forth in §1.20(i)(1); and

(3) a showing that the delay was unavoidable since reasonable care was taken to ensure that the maintenance fee would be paid timely and that the petition was filed promptly after the patentee was notified of, or otherwise became aware of, the expiration of the patent. The showing must enumerate the steps taken to ensure timely payment of the maintenance fee, the date and the manner in which patentee became aware of the expiration of the patent, and the steps taken to file the petition promptly.

(c) Any petition to accept an unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee filed under paragraph (a) of this section must be filed within twenty-four months after the six-month grace period provided in §1.362(e) and must include:

(1) the required maintenance fee set forth in §1.20 (e) through (g);

(2) the surcharge set forth in §1.20(i)(2); and

(3) a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional.

(e) Reconsideration of a decision refusing to accept a maintenance fee upon petition filed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section may be obtained by filing a petition for reconsideration within two months of, or such other time as set in, the decision refusing to accept the delayed payment of the maintenance fee. Any such petition for reconsideration must be accompanied by the petition fee set forth in §1.17(h). After decision on the petition for reconsideration, no further reconsideration or review of the matter will be undertaken by the Commissioner. If the delayed payment of the maintenance fee is not accepted, the maintenance fee and the surcharge set forth in §1.20(i) will be refunded following the decision on the petition for reconsideration, or after the expiration of the time for filing such a petition for reconsideration, if none is filed. Any petition fee under this section will not be refunded unless the refusal to accept and record the maintenance fee is determined to result from an error by the Patent and Trademark Office.

Regarding Industrial Property Rights in the Republic of Slovenia

The Industrial Property Protection Office of the Republic of Slovenia has provided the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) with a consolidated text, in English, of the Law on Industrial Property of the Republic of Slovenia which regulates the grant and protection of patents, model rights and design rights, trademarks and service marks, and appellations of origin. In addition, the Industrial Property Protection Office has notified the USPTO that it has entered into an "extension agreement" with the European Patent Organisation that will enter into force in Jauary 1994. After entry into force of the agreement, it will be possible to obtain patent protection in Slovenia through obtaining a European patent. The Republic of Slovenia also plans to ratify the Patent Cooperation Treaty administered by the World Intellectual Property Organization.

A copy of the consolidated text of the Slovenian industrial prperty law can be obtained by writing to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Anticipated Trademark Fee Increase

The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) recently published a notice of proposed rulemaking announcing its intention to raise the trademark application filing fee to $245 if H.R. 2632 was enacted into law. 58 Fed. Reg. 39102 (July 21, 1993); 1152 Off. Gaz. 91 (July 27, 1993). Recently, H.R. 2632 was amended to provide that "[e]ffective Oct. 1, 1993, the fee ...for filing an application for the registration of a trademark shall be $245." Therefore, if H.R. 2632 passes with the present language, the fee for filing a trademark application will be $245 on Oct. 1, 1993. Because the fee would increase by operation of law, no further notice will be necessary prior to the fee taking effect. Applicants for trademark registration on or after Oct. 1, 1993, should either assume the fee has been increased or confirm that it has not. Any overpayment will be refunded. No other patent or trademark fee will change on Oct. 1, 1993.

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents and Trademarks Available for Public Use in Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs), receive patent and trademark information in various formats from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Many PTDLs have on file all full-text patents issued since 1790, trademarks published since 1872, and select collections of foreign patents. All PDTLs have both the patent and trademark sections of the Official Gazette of the U. S. Patent and Trademark Office. The full-text utility and design patents are distributed numerically on 16 mm microfilm, and plant patents on color microfiche. Patent and trademark search systems on CD-ROM (Compact Disc-Read Only) format are available at all PTDLs to increase utilization of and enhance access to the information found in patents and trademarks. It is through the CD-ROM system that preliminary patent and trademark searches can be conducted through the numerically arranged collections.

All information is available for use by the public free of charge.

In addition, each PTDL offers reference publications which outline and provide access to the patent and trademark classification systems, as well as other documents and publications which supplement the basic search tools. PTDLs provide technical staff assistance in using all materials. Facilities for making paper copies of patent and trademark information are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent and trademark collections among the PTDLs, and their hours of service to the public vary, anyone contemplating use of these collections at a particular library is urged to contact that library in advance about its collections, services, and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1. of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents and Trademarks Available for Public Use in Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs), receive patent and trademark information in various formats from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Many PTDLs have on file all full-text patents issued since 1790, trademarks published since 1872, and select collections of foreign patents. All PDTLs have both the patent and trademark sections of the Official Gazette of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. The full-text utility and design patents are distributed numerically on 16 mm microfilm, and plant patents on color microfiche. Patent and trademark search systems on CD-ROM (Compact Disc-Read Only) format are available at all PTDLs to increase utilization of and enhance access to the information found in patents and trademarks. It is through the CD-ROM systems that prelminary patent and trademark searches can be conducted through the numerically arranged collections.

All information is available for use by the public free of charge.

In addition, each PTDL offers reference publications which outline and provide access to the patent and trademark classification systems, as well as other documents and publications which supplement the basic search tools. PTDLs provide technical staff assistance in using all materials. Facilities for making paper copies of patent and trademark information are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent and trademark collections among the PTDLs, and their hours of service to the public vary, anyone contemplating use of these collections at a particular library is urged to contact that library in advance about its collections, services, and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
